Short info:

Wally Warning, singer, guitarist, bassist and composer from the Caribbean island of Aruba is surprising audiences and critics once again. At home on many stages around the world his music cannot be classified into an established category as it always stays versatile and open for new inspirations. Seven years after his hit «No Monkey» Wally Warning is now back with his new album «Groovemaker» (release June 26, 2015).

While his last album «Mama Nature» took his audience on a musical world tour from Latin-American to African sounds, the new album has been inspired and shaped by various new influences.

Roots instruments like the Indian «Shrutibox» but also reed organ, gopichand, furuku, wiri and the African roots-bass mark the typical percussive and rhythmic Groovemaker-Sound: A mix of worldmusic and modern influences – very danceable and sometimes even trance-like which also mirrors Wally's passion to dance.

The best example is the first single release «Success» (release May 29, 2015). With «Success» Wally Warning is setting off a firework of danceable Disco and Caribbean sounds, driving beats (backup vocals by Ami Warning).

Once again it is amazing how the exceptional musician from Aruba is able to touch the hearts of his fans. It might well be his trust in a higher self which continues Wally Warning's success story in 2015.

«Groovemaker» will be released on June 26, 2015 physically by N-Gage Productions (Musikvertrieb AG & Membran Media GmbH) as well as digital by Soulfire Artists (Kontor New Media).
